

JOIN THE OHIO STATE ARMY ROTC ALUMNI SOCIETY

Dear Friends of the Ohio State ROTC Program:

Army ROTC Alumni Society exists to support the Buckeye Battalion cadets and cadre and to promote relations among alumni, cadets, and the university. The Army Reserve Officer Training Corps has a rich history extending over 100 years on the Ohio State University campus. More than ten thousand military and community leaders have launched their careers through the program. Through a variety of events, the society provides a way to share the tradition with cadets, to learn what is new in the Buckeye Battalion, and to honor cadets and alumni. Through our social events, such as the football homecoming, and various awards programs, the society strives to promote the spirit and keep alive the legacy that is ROTC at OSU. Today's ROTC cadets are training to lead the Army of the future, and they deserve the support of the university and the alumni. Facing a turbulent world, we must continue our vigilance and training for new defense challenges around the world and at home.

Among the many ways you can help:

- Join the society; your dues support programs
- Endow a scholarship for a cadet...or contribute to the Alumni Society scholarship fund
- Encourage a student to apply for ROTC
- Nominate someone for the Hall of Fame
- Mentor a cadet
- Serve on the Board of Directors

We welcome you and invite your ideas for making a better Society and supporting the ROTC program.

Jeff Van Linge, 94
Pres., Board of Governors
